Wednesday 30th June 2021, 2:00-4:00 pm GMT, Online

Register via Eventbrite

What can we learn from a Greek play? How does learning Latin help us to understand the modern languages of Europe and beyond? What can archaeological objects found in the Near East tell us about how people lived in the ancient world? At the upcoming UCL Ancient World and Classics taster day our lecturers will study closely these and related questions. They will give you a sense of what it is like to study Classics and the Ancient World at the undergraduate level at UCL.

During the online taster day, you will learn about the degree-structure and the many exciting pathways you can follow. You will also learn about the departmental Greek play, organised and run by students and performed at UCL's Bloomsbury Theatre every year. In 2021, The production as well as accompanying material will at least be partly online (with further details to follow in the autumn). You will listen to one 30 min long taster lecture by Dr Phiroze Vasunia, providing you with a real flavour of what studying the Ancient World and Classics at the university level is like. You will also have the chance to meet (virtually) current undergraduates and ask them questions about their experience at UCL.

Years 11, 12 and 13

LAW: Model Law Commission

Overview:

The Model Law Commission is a three-month long project that provides A-Level students with the chance to simulate the work of the Law Commission. We split the pool of students into four groups, each tasked with the reform of one of the following areas of law: (1) Family, Trusts or Land Law; (2) Criminal Law; (3) Commercial and Common Law; or (4) Public Law. From October to December, students undertake a five-stage process: research, formulating recommendations, consulting with their peers, reporting on their proposals and devising their legislation.

Each year, the Model Law Commission begins with a two-day conference. It is over the course of these two days that students are introduced to their respective topics by experts in the field who come from all over the country to speak to them. The young people then take that information and over the following weeks discuss reform ideas with each other, their Group Leaders and their peers. Finally, in late November, individuals from the Law Commission itself visit our students and advise on the difficulties in reforming the law and how to write a law reform report. The project then concludes with a final event in Parliament in December or early January.

If you are interested in learning more about the way law works in the UK, the way it is made and changed and in fair access to justice for everyone, then you are strongly encouraged to apply.

The project will take place between October and December 2021. The deadline for applications is 1pm on Sunday 12 September.

Virtual Work Insight App

The General Medical Council have developed a virtual reality app which you may like to use as a work-related learning experience: <https://www.gmc-uk.org/about/what-we-do-and-why/learning-and-support/e-learning-resources/patient-journey-to-gp-practice>.

The GMC created the app initially for international medical graduates, but it does lend itself to a virtual work insight for school students who have applied, or are applying to study medicine. It can help you understand topics such as confidentiality and end of life care, which they will need to be aware of in interviews and applications. The app follows a patient on her journey though visiting her GP, and introduces others who work in the primary care team such as pharmacists, nurses and physician's associates.

Applications and Interviews

The Studying Healthcare website provides information on the university application process for medicine, dentistry or pharmacy. The website aims to ensure students from all backgrounds are supported to make an informed choice about university. Studying Healthcare is a partnership between the Medical, Dental and Pharmacy Schools Councils, and is funded by Health Education England. <https://studyinghealthcare.ac.uk/>
